CUMMINS HAS BEST CHANCE

Likely to Be Elected President Pro Tem. of Senate.

CURTIS AND MOSES IN RACE

Iowa Senator, It is Believed, Will Receive the Indorsement of the Republican Caucus and His Election Will Follow—Scramble for Southern Delegates to the Next Republican Convention.

Washington, Aug. 23.—Senator Albert B. Cummins of Iowa has the best chance of being elected president pro tem of the senate, according to well informed opinion among senators here. The election will be held when reorganization of the senate takes place in December.

With the vice presidency vacant, the office of president pro tem carries a salary of $12,000 a year, which is an increase of $4,500 over that now paid to senators. In addition to this increase the occupant of the office has the use of the vice president's automobile. A new car was bought by the senate last year for Mr. Coolidge out of an appropriation of $6,000, and this car will be turned over to the president pro tem.

Senator Cummins was first elected to the office when the Sixty-sixth congress convened in May, 1919, and control passed from the Democrats to the Republicans. At the time of his election it was considered probable that he would not seek re-election, but with the additional attractions, due to accession of Vice President Coolidge to the presidency, Senator Cummins has become an active candidate. It is believed that he will receive the endorsement of the Republican caucus and that his election will follow. Other candidates on the Republican side are Senators Curtis of Kansas and George H. Moses of New Hampshire. The Democratic vote probably will be given to Senator Joseph Robinson of Arkansas.

The forecast of Senator Cummins' election does not take in account the attitude of the two Farmer-Labor senators, Johnson and Shipstead of Minnesota, nor of LaFollette of Wisconsin and Brookhart of Iowa. It is not known whether any of them will enter the Republican caucus, nor how they will vote in the senate.

The scramble now going on to corral southern delegates to the next Republican convention is arousing interest in political circles here. An important question raised was: "Where are Frank Hitchcock of New York and John T. King of Connecticut, both of whom in previous campaigns have had a lot to do with the selection of these southern delegates?" Hitchcock and King appear to have been left entirely out of consideration. No one seems to know at this stage of the campaign what part they will take in the contest, nor to whom they will throw the support of the block of southern votes which they have been accustomed to control.

FLIERS REACH GOALS

Mail From Coast to Coast in Thirty Hours an Accomplished Fact.

New York, Aug. 23.—Coast to coast air mail service became an established part of the government's myriad activities when the first batch of 69 pounds of letters, which left San Francisco Tuesday morning, reached Hazelhurst field, Long Island, last evening.

At the same time the plane which left New York for the Pacific coast arrived at San Francisco. The latter feat was accomplished in 30 hours and 9 minutes.

Pilot C. Eugene Johnson, who brought the plane here from Cleveland, made up more than an hour lost on earlier legs, and at the same time set a new air mail record from Cleveland to New York by covering the distance in 3 hours and 12 minutes. The former record was 3 hours and 50 minutes.

Legion Bands to Compete.

Springfield, O., Aug. 23.—American Legion bands from all parts of Ohio will compete for prizes here at the state legion convention Sept. 8, 9, 10 and 11. Prizes will be awarded on the merits of the music and the appearance of the bands in the parade, in which 18,000 legion men are expected to take part.

Drive Launched Against Host of Fake Stock Salesmen.

Washington, Aug. 23.—The department of justice launched a drive to put a host of fake stock salesmen in jail. The work will be in charge of Assistant Attorney General Crim, who has just completed a visit to federal courts throughout the nation and arranged for the roundup. Dockets will be cleaned of pending cases and new indictments will be immediately sought on a large number of complaints. In order to expedite the necessary litigation federal judges and attorneys have agreed to work every day until the task is completed.

In every federal district the dockets are littered with oil fraud cases. The offenders are enjoying liberty because other matters have prevented their cases coming to trial, it was said. On the Pacific coast and in the southwest, it was stated, the situation is particularly bad and must be remedied at once. Men under indictment for oil and stock frauds, it was said, are taking advantage of their liberty to organize and practice other frauds.

CALLS MEETING OF GOVERNORS

Government Preparing for Possible Coal Strike.

WOULD PROTECT THE PUBLIC

Heads of States in Anthracite Consuming Territory to Hold Conference Next Tuesday—Territory to Be Flooded With Substitute Fuel In Event of Strike—President Awaits Commission's Report.

Washington, Aug. 23.—Under orders from the white house, intensive governmental activity was begun to cope with the situation if the threatened anthracite coal strike materializes on Sept. 1. All federal agencies concerned in any way with the problem were directed to set in motion machinery that will insure the people against suffering from a shortage of fuel.

The principal move in this direction was the calling of a conference of governors of the states in the anthracite consuming territory to work out plans for flooding the hard coal region with substitutes in the event of a strike. The conference will be held in New York City next Tuesday. It will be presided over by Coal Fuel Distributor Wadleigh, representing President Coolidge. Representatives of the railroads and a member of the interstate commerce commission also will attend.

At the same time the policy of preparedness was brought into operation, the president's determination to fix the responsibility for the failure of the negotiations between the operators and miners was plainly evidenced. The public, Mr. Coolidge insists, shall be advised in unmistakable words where the blame rests.

The United States coal commission, under Chairman John Hays Hammond, worked under White House orders to go exhaustively into this phase of the question. This is the commission's particular function and the terms of the act creating it. Congress made it a fact finding body.

It is understood that the commission's report may not be ready for two or three days. Branding of one side or the other before the nation as responsible for the threat against the public welfare, it is thought, might operate against any possible eleventh hour reconvening of the joint conference. President Coolidge is desirous, before taking any drastic step, of giving both sides ample opportunity to see the error of their way and to come together of their own accord.

No effort was made by government officials, however, to conceal their apprehension that a strike may be inevitable. There appeared to be no move in prospect to bring the owners and employees together again. The coal commission is through and all indications at the White House are that the president does not contemplate further appeal.

CUBA PAYS WAR DEBT

First Nation in the World to Reimburse the United States.

Washington, Aug. 23.—Cuba won the distinction of being the first nation in the world to pay in full her war debt to the United States. As compared with some it was but a drop in the bucket, a modest $10,000,000 to begin with. But, the treasury announced, the record is without parallel as to the manner in which payments have been met. Interest was invariably paid when due. Tuesday there remained unpaid $7,000,000. A financial agent deposited three and a half millions and came back again today with a like amount. He asked for and received a receipt in full.

Witter Abolishes Position.

Columbus, Aug. 23.—In a communication to the members of the state civil service commission Herman Witter, director of industrial relations, defies the commission and declares that, rather than comply with their order of reinstatement of Dr. W. F. Bay, medical examiner, he will abolish the position, effective at once. Dr. Bay was removed by Director Witter for cause, but the two members of the state civil service commission, after hearing the evidence, voted unanimously to order his reinstatement, declaring that the charges of Mr. Witter had not been sustained.

City Officials on Trial.

Columbus, Aug. 23.—Police Chief James Watkins of Youngstown is on trial here today before Governor Donahy to answer charges of alleged nonfeasance in office and willful neglect and failure to enforce the law. RUPTURE HELD INEVITABLE

Franco-British Break Anticipated in Certain Quarters.

DIPLOMATS EXPRESS CONCERN

Next Step to Be Taken by Great Britain the Cause of Considerable Apprehension—Baldwin Cabinet May Temporarily, However, to Soothe the Friends of France—Comment on Premier Poincare's Latest Note.

Pars, Aug. 23.—Premier Poincare's note to London, published here, marks another milestone, perhaps the last one, on the road that leads to an inevitable Franco-British break.

During the recent days the more optimistic have expected that Premier Poincare would offer a solution for all problems, including reparations, the Ruhr and the interallied debts. Never has such eager expectation been so little justified as the note. While it inflexibly reaffirms all the French demands, it wholly rejects all the English proposals without suggesting the least kind of a new scheme.

Britain is accused of selfishness, although Premier Baldwin offered to cancel most of France's debts. France does not wish to talk now of a settlement of the interallied debts, insisting that this question be postponed until after Germany has fully settled for reparations, which may take scores of years.

Poincare's suggestion that an interallied loan be floated to guarantee reparations is believed here to be entirely impracticable, because such a loan could only be underwritten by America, thus making fresh American gold pay the entire war bill.

As for the immediate consequences of Poincare's attitude concerning the Anglo-French conflict, diplomatic circles believe that at any other time England would answer with an emphatic and sudden declaration of a rupture, but the Baldwin cabinet, though convinced that a rupture is inevitable, will temporize to soothe the die hards, who are friendly to France.

Considerable apprehension is felt in European diplomatic circles concerning the next step by Britain. Should Premier Baldwin decide to address a separate note to Germany, Premier Poincare would immediately call an extra session in order to obtain a parliamentary vote of confidence for the application of his policy in the Ruhr, involving, according to present plans, a quick advance and the occupation of Frankfurt.

REPLY UNACCEPTABLE

Only Two Courses Left Open to the British Prime Minister.

London, Aug. 23.—The British foreign office regards Premier Poincare's reply as unacceptable. Premier Baldwin is expected to summon an extraordinary session of the cabinet as soon as possible to consider France's latest note.

Financial circles are deeply angered by Poincare's declaration that if Britain does not agree to a priority in reparations for the war areas, France will be forced to stand rigidly by her full claims under the figures fixed at Versailles.

Only two courses are open to Premier Baldwin. With his proposals rejected, he must either summon parliament and obtain authority for carrying out his pledge to effect a separate settlement with Germany, or climb down and seek escape through the loophole provided by Poincare in his proposal for allied discussion of all questions at issue.

The only encouraging feature of the French reply is that France has finally whittled down the minimum demands of the allies from Germany from 6,600,000,000 pounds sterling to 2,500,000,000 pounds, France to be paid 1,300,000,000 pounds and Belgium to be paid 250,000,000 pounds as soon as the money can be raised on preferred "A" and "B" bonds issued by Germany. Under this arrangement Britain would be allowed 210,000,000 pounds.

Pacifism the Big Problem.

Berlin, Aug. 23.—"The most vital question today is pacifism," declared Duke Max, brother of the last king of Saxony, in an address at Essen. The duke, who is professor of theology at the University of Freiburg, Switzerland, expressed regret that the idea of pacifism is progressing more slowly in Germany than in France, where there are 100,000 organized pacifists as against Germany's 30,000.

NEW PROBLEM DEVELOPS

Lives of Coal Commission and Fuel Distributor Expire Next Month.

Washington, Aug. 23.—Serious embarrassment is faced by President Coolidge in event of an anthracite strike in the fact that the lives of both the United States coal commission and the federal fuel distributor expire on Sept. 22. Only by calling an extra session of congress could the president have these agencies continued with any authority of law. The fuel distributor's staff will be so enlarged if a strike develops that it could not be absorbed by another department on account of a lack of appropriation.

NAVY FLIERS WILL AID ASTRONOMERS

Will Take Photos at High Altitudes of Sun's Eclipse.

Washington, Aug. 23.—In the hope of obtaining valuable astronomical data desired by the naval observatory here, navy fliers, co-operating with the experts of the observatory, will make photographs at high altitudes of the eclipse of the sun visible in southern California Sept. 10.

The planes will fly from the naval air station at San Diego. The planes will take the air with instruments and cameras when just half the first phases of the eclipse are visible and will remain aloft during the entire period of the eclipse.

The planes will have a three-fold object. If the day is cloudy the sun will not be visible to observers on the ground and the aviators by flying over the clouds can obtain observations and photographs of great scientific value, which under these circumstances would constitute the only observations of the eclipse. Another object is to take pictures of the shadow cast on the earth by the eclipse, and if possible to get photographs of both the northern and southern edges of it. With these photographs the exact center of the shadow can be determined and will constitute a means of checking the calculations of the scientists observing on the ground with telescopes.

Coolidge as Arbitrator.

Washington, Aug. 23.—President Coolidge succeeds the late President Harding as arbitrator of the Tacna-Arica territorial dispute between Chile and Peru, it was announced at the state department. The arbitration agreement, it was pointed out, provides that the president of the United States shall act as umpire, but does not mention him by name. Commissioners representing both Peru and Chile are at work in Washington preparing their cases for submission to the president.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH
PLAN CENTENNIAL.

The local Presbyterian church has passed its hundredth birthday and is planning to hold its centennial celebration on Sunday, September sixteenth. A committee has been appointed to look after the details connected with the program for the day and its plans are under way. While it is not ready to announce the speakers for the occasion, invitations have been sent to former pastors of the church, sons of early pastors and others who are to have special part in the program. The committee in charge held its second meeting Wednesday night and has appointed special committees on invitation, reception, program and history.

Members of the church have been asked to write to their friends who were formerly members of the church asking them to make this an occasion for homecoming.

A good joke never grows old. Like wine, time serves to improve it; and so it is with all things worth while. The scrap book occupied a prominent place on the reading table in years gone by and it is going to come back again, for it stands in a class by itself. No other volume ever gripped and held its readers as did this keepsake of almost-forgotten days, and no book of the present, no matter what its theme or who its author may be, will delight and really thrill one's own family and friends as will a scrap book made up of the happenings of today.

Bible Thought for Today

SMALL TOWN HUMOR AND PHILOSOPHY

By BUCK CAMPBELL

Never help to stuff a club for the other fellow to pound you over the head.

Never trust a man with a bad record, even good men sometimes go wrong.

Most of the ills of humanity are imaginary and a lot more are only an excuse for laziness.

The devil has a mortgage on a lot of fellows whose carcass would not pay the expense of a foreclosure.

The lazy loafer is always a firm believer that luck plays an important part in the success of his energetic neighbor.

From the number of accidents in this country it looks like it would be better to put shock absorbers on the pedestrians instead of the machines.

To Reduce Flesh.

To reduce superfluous fat you must work. Your path will wind through many lanes of self-sacrifice before your mirror will give back the coveted willowy image. Your attainment of the ideal will mean hot work, too, for vigorous exercise is necessary. A daily walk of five miles should not be excessive if you are in good condition. Give a fair trial to the tonic baths so helpful for many girls who complain of "tired feelings."

Discouraged Frenchmen.

A Frenchman complained that he had difficulty in learning English. He said that after he had learned to pronounce "typhoid fever" a doctor pronounced it fatal.

HOOSIER

—the Kitchen Cabinet that saves miles of steps

—the Only Kitchen Convenience that Adjusts Your Work-Table to Suit Your Height

Gymnasium instructors have a little trick of asking new members of their classes to hold their hands above their heads and open and close their fingers. After a minute or two the student usually suffers an acute pain in the muscles. Yet opening and closing the fingers is a simple, natural operation. It's the unnatural position in which the arms are held which wears one out.

Unless your work-table is adjusted to the proper height to suit your individual build, you stand in an unnatural position which puts a muscle strain on arms and back for such movements as rolling dough and beating eggs.

That is why so many women wear themselves out at their kitchen work. It is also why women who own the new HOOSIER are freed from such muscle-strains. For the new HOOSIER gives you a work-table adjusted to your comfort.

An initial payment as low as $1.00 will put a HOOSIER in your home.

HIS OPPORTUNITY

By JANE GORDON

(© 1923, Western Newspaper Union.)

"YOU must stay over to attend our fete, Cynthia," Mrs. Talbot said. "Oh! do," Janet coaxed, "and be our mystic lady in the fortune-telling booth."

Mrs. Talbot immediately saw this advantage and urged her invitation.

Cynthia hesitated. "I ought to be at home to greet father, after his trip abroad," she said; "the house is such an empty place without a welcoming presence."

So it was arranged that the honored guest should remain for the anticipated fete and enact the part of mystic seer in the fortune-telling booth.

"Now," Mrs. Talbot went on, "let us check off those invited, Janet."

The girl glanced up at her mother. "Wallace Bruce must come, of course," she said.

Mrs. Talbot flushed uncomfortably. "My dear," she expostulated, "to include Wallace in our invitation now would be not only to embarrass our guests, but to cause himself painful perplexity. A man who has been obliged to suffer the family disgrace that Wallace has recently known would prefer to be left in seclusion."

"You have heard, Cynthia," Mrs. Talbot referred to her guest, "of the unfortunate bank difficulty in your city? This Wallace Bruce of whom Janet speaks is a son of the defaulting cashier."

"Wallace has been wonderful," Janet hotly defended. "And the true question of defaulting was not decided. Mr. Bruce went away to die of shock and exposure—the papers, as mother says, were full of the story—and Wallace resigned his own position in the same bank to go with his father and care for him to the last. Now that he comes back, not back home, for his home has been sold, to settle up accounts, but now that Wallace, our old friend, is here, lonely and disappointed among us, we, who used to—"

Janet gulped—"to run after him, refuse him an invitation to our house. It's unfair."

Cynthia King spoke quietly. "It does seem unkind," she said, and an opinion of the Store King's daughter was not to be ignored.

Wallace Bruce, in his hurt and loneliness, received an invitation to the society fete. And because he wished to show his gratitude for recognition, Wallace Bruce attended.

"This way to the tent of the Mystic Seer," cried Janet at the path in the garden where lanterns glowed.

"And you really must visit Madame Cynthia, Wallace," she merrily greeted. "Madame Cynthia will be quite unknown to you. She is a mysterious stranger among us."

Wallace agreeably handed to the fair "barker" his half-dollar and passed into the oriental booth. Madame Cynthia was appropriately veiled, from bright dark eyes to the tip of her dimpled chin. She crossed her golden slippers and very thoughtfully regarded her subject. That dark-eyed gaze was penetrating. Wallace Bruce thought the low, modulated voice pleasant, too, to hear.

"Your hand, if you please?" requested the mystic. Her touch was comforting. Wallace smiled; he had almost forgotten how; the effort was wistful.

"I await," he said, "your verdict without fear. My clouds, I am beginning to think, have no silver lining. Therefore, I am resigned."

The little mystic bent toward him. "Resigned?" she questioned—"but that is not well. Silver linings must be pulled about with courage. And here I see—ah, it is opportunity, a golden opportunity, to be grasped. What you may make of it will depend largely upon yourself. I, the mystic seer, have faith in you. Faith, because of your faithful past. One day you may see me again—in your palm our paths cross—that little line. Then you shall prove to me."

The jeweled fingers were twisting a scrap of paper. "Take, read thoughtfully, friend," the mystic ordered, "and follow opportunity."

Wallace Bruce was out in the night before he realized that another applicant had forced his place. Under a swinging lantern he whimsically read the scrap of paper. Then amazed, he stood for a moment in the path.

"On Thursday next, at three o'clock, apply at the private office of John King of the King Stores," was his message. "You will be expected."

Whirling about he endeavored again to enter the fortune teller's tent. He found that Madame Cynthia had resigned her post to Janet Talbot, who could not be persuaded to divulge the young mystic's name.

"It wouldn't be honorable, Wallace," Janet said. "I promised Cynthia to keep silent."

The president of the King chain of stores greeted him with courtesy on the following Thursday. And Wallace felt that he was still living under a heavy spell when that gentleman invited him to dinner that same evening.

In the wide hall Cynthia King met them. Her dark eyes questioned those of Wallace, challenged them. Then the low, pleasing voice remarked: "I see that you have grasped your opportunity."

There was no wistfulness now in the man's smile. "I am eager to prove to you," he said—and he did.

And it may also be told that it was Cynthia, the kindly mystic, who brought Wallace Bruce the silver lining of his cloud, a lining so bright that it might be called the gold of his desire.

The Hotel Stenographer

BY ROE FULKERSON

“Where you been?” asked the House Detective. “A guy wanted some letters did.”

“I was up in 935 taking some letters,” replied the girl; “if you had given your brain a workout you would have seen the memorandum on my machine.”

“I don't like this idea of your going to rooms to take dictation,” said the House Detective.

“Kelly, a life of crime detecting makes a man suspicious,” laughed the girl. “If you would take the trouble to look at the desk and see who is in, 926 you would find it a woman.”

“I don't like even that,” gloomed the House Detective. “There is some mighty wild janes around a hotel.”

“Kelly, I won't have your disposition for all the money there is in the gasoline business.”

“This woman I took the letters from was in a kimono. Give me one look at a woman's kimono and I will tell you more about her than a man can find out in a week. Kimono is an intimate sort of a thing, like a toothbrush. No man ever sees a woman in her kimono, so she does not select it with the same thought in mind that she selects her other clothes. She picks them according to what she thinks will please the man. But her kimono, she can select to suit herself.”

“If it is a plain blue silk thing, with a few if any trimmings, she is a practical sort of a soul. If it is one of those Japanese things, with wistaria and storks on it, she is a Madam Butterfly. If it is all lace and baby blue bows she is a doll baby personality who asks nothing better than to have some man marry and support her, and if it is a suit of pajamas heavens only knows what she is, but only that she ought not to be it.”

Elephant's Generosity.
An interesting incident occurred at the elephant house at Franklin park, Boston, late one afternoon showing unusual kindness on the part of one animal for another, writes a correspondent of Dumb Animals. “Molly” and “Tony,” the two large elephants, had been supplied with a generous amount of hay for their supper, but none had been given to the little baby elephant in the adjoining section, which was separated from that of the larger animals by wooden bars and railing. After a time Molly apparently noticed that the youngster had nothing to eat, and she gathered up a mass of hay with her trunk from her own supply, and moved over and placed it down beside the bars separating the “Baby,” so that the little fellow could reach it through the bars with his trunk, which he speedily did. This somewhat discounts the stories current about the jealousy on the part of the larger elephants toward the little fellow.

LAST ADDRESS OF PRESIDENT

Read to His Brothers of Marion Commandery, Knights-Templar.

Committee Had Journeyed to Hollywood, California, to Greet Him—Carried Traveling Beauseant—James H. Eymon Was Chairman of Committee.

The last public address of President Harding was made at Hollywood, California, to Marion commandery, Knights-Templar of which he was a member. A committee of the commandery was at Hollywood at the time for the purpose of delivering the traveling beauseant to their fraters in that city, and the president being unable to attend the exercises, his address was read by his secretary, George B. Christian, about two hours before his death.

Attorney James H. Eymon, formerly of Williamsport, was a member of the committee which journeyed to Hollywood and he did not get back to Marion until the morning of the funeral of the president.

Mr. Eymon was chairman of the committee appointed by Marion commandery to prepare a memorial on the death of their illustrious brother and Sir Knight.

The resolutions which were adopted were as follows:

“The members of Marion commandery, No. 36, Knights-Templars, mourn because our beloved Sir Knight Warren Gamaliel Harding has been called to partake of the bitter cup of death, and we are again admonished that sooner or later our names will be stricken from the roll of the living and we shall one by one be gathered to his side by those who in their turn shall follow us.

“He was taken just as honors thickly clustered and, as to us it seems, at a time when the accomplishment of the enterprise he had so earnestly undertaken had begun to be realized; but, according to the ‘Great Plan,’ his work had been completed. It was the time for him to lay aside the sword and buckler of this life and join the throng in the place prepared by Him for the followers of the Prince of Peace, and it is for the members of this order which he founded upon the teachings of the Great Emmanuel to say, ‘His will be done.’

“To our commandery he delivered the last address of his private life and only two hours prior to his answering the summons of the Supreme Grand Commander that the pilgrimage of this life, in which he had so splendidly shown his patience and perseverance, had been completed, that the time of his warfare, in all of which he had so beautifully displayed his courage and constancy, had ended, and that his simple faith and humility had won him a place in the conclaves on high, the last message of his public service was read to this, his own commandery, which had made the journey to our western shore to meet him for the purpose of commemorating the teachings and service of the Ancient Templars.

“Warren Gamaliel Harding was honored by all nations; revered by his countrymen; and beloved by his neighbors and ‘home folks.’ He was our friend. While he trod the ordinary walks of life—when he rose to higher stations—and when he had been exalted to the highest position in the nation and of the world—yet, he was over and always our friend. In truth his whole life seemed to radiate this one desire:

“I want the men I meet, each day, wherever I may be, To know that joy and happiness just radiate from me. I want to put so much into the hand clasp I extend, That every man I meet will say: ‘I know he'll be my friend.’

“I want to greet my fellowmen with such a hearty smile, That it will banish all their care and make life seem worth while. I want to understand their need, and such assistance lend, That every man I know will feel: ‘I'm glad he is my friend.’

“I ask not honor, not reward, for anything I do; I just would open wide my heart and let the love shine thru. Tho I but meet a brother once, one touch, one smile I'd send, And cause that man to sing for aye: ‘I'm glad he was my friend.’

“To his brave, faithful and loving life companion we can only offer in kindness our feeble assistance, and deeply sympathize with her in her bereavement, hoping all of us may profit by the statement he made to us at one of our meetings when speaking of prayer, ‘I am not ashamed to say to you that I often turn to that source for help in bearing the burden which has come to my shoulders.’

“Farewell, Sir Knight! We will cherish your memory in our hearts.”

AMUSEMENTS

"The Fog" shown for the first time at the Met theater yesterday, is one of the most absorbing and best acted photoplays is has ever been our good fortune to see. And it was enthusiastically received. Before we saw it, we deemed it hardly possible that so many elements of entertainment value could be crowded into one photoplay. But in this picture are adventure, pathos, villainy, heroism, love, infatuation—the whole range of human action.

It is the story of how a sensitive boy finally triumphed—thru love—over the tyranny and meanness of his environment. It is a story packed with thrills and rapid action and its love theme is very unusual.

The acting was really superb. The cast includes Mildred Harris, Cullen Landis, Louise Fazenda, Ethel Wales, Louise Dresser, Marjorie Prevost, Ann May, Ralph Lewis, David Butler, Frank Currier and Edward Phillips. Each role is interpreted with remarkable sincerity and convincingness.

Praise should also be accorded the director, Paul Powell, for his masterful handling of William Dudley Pelley's fascinating story.

The photoplay was adapted by H. H. Van Loan and was produced for Metro under the personal supervision of Max Graf. The scenario was prepared by Winifred Dunn. The photography is the work of John R. Arnold.

DEATH CAME SUDDENLY

Body of Cary Short Found Southwest of City in His Automobile.

Machine Hit Tree—Had an Attack of Heart Trouble or Fallen Asleep—Was Prominent Farmer and Stockman—Shipped Thousands of Horses.

Cary Short was found dead at the steering wheel of his touring car at five o'clock this morning on the Westfall road four miles southwest of this city by a young farmer, Ernest Gerhardt, within one hundred yards of the latter's home on the C. E. Groce farm.

Mr. Gerhardt arose early to gather his crop of sweetcorn, which he is delivering at the Sears-Nichols cannery. From his home he saw a car at the side of the road which had been wrecked, as it had hit a sycamore tree. When he arrived at the scene he found to his surprise the driver of the car still sitting behind the wheel. The body of the man was leaning a little to one side and his hands were still gripping the wheel. He at once recognized the man as Cary Short. The body was still warm and he had evidently been dead but a short time.

Acting Coroner E. C. Friece was notified and accompanied by Undertaker Fred C. Clark went to the scene of the tragedy and viewed the body. Coroner Friece is of the opinion that Mr. Short had died of heart trouble and that the car ran along and was stopped when it came in contact with the tree at the roadside.

Undertaker Clark, who took the body in charge and removed it the dead man's home, only a few miles south of where it was found, is of the opinion that Mr. Short died of heart trouble before the car hit the tree. Forrest Short, a son of the deceased, said that the family is of the opinion that his father had gone to sleep on his way home from Columbus and that the shock of colliding with the tree was the cause of his death. It is known that Mr. Short had not been very well of late and that he was afflicted with a weak heart. The night was cold and damp and it is not an unusual thing for a driver of a car to drop off into a nap on a long drive. The machine was badly wrecked. One side of the car where it hit the fence was torn and the wheels on this side were demolished and the front axle bent. Nothing of value was disturbed on Mr. Short's person. He usually wore diamonds, a stud and a solitaire ring. There were no bruises on his body, with the exception of a slight abrasion of the skin on his chest which was caused by the sudden impact and rebound when the machine came in contact with the tree.

Shrewd in his dealings in real estate and horses he amassed a snug fortune and was the owner of some good farm land in Pickaway, Ross and Franklin counties. He came here from Deerfield township, Ross county nearly twenty-four years and rented the farm of the late Mrs. Mary Bennett Fleming, wife of William A. Fleming, of Watt street. His business in horse trading and buying was a success from its inception and he specialized in draft horses and sold thousands to dealers all over the country. He was associated the past few years with his son, Forrest Short. The firm dealt exclusively with the government agents during the World war and nearly five thousand horses were sold to the government for shipment abroad. His fame as a horse man became known nationally and dealers came here from San Francisco California and New York City, to buy heavy draft stock. His largest customers were The Standard Oil company, of Ohio, and the Ritter Lumber company, of West Virginia.

Affable and jolly, he made friends everywhere and it was nothing to see horse traders coming in large numbers from miles distant to his home farm to buy, sell or trade with him.

For the past three years Mr. Short had been out of the horse business and had been interested in real estate with Harvey S. Heffner, of this city, with an office at 77 East Chapel street, Columbus, and negotiated a number of big deals in real estate.

Mr. Short stopped at the Clifton Brothers garage on West Main street at one o'clock this morning and had a tire on his car repaired. He had just came down from Columbus and remarked that he was nearly chilled thru.

Cary Short was born in Deerfield township, Ross county, June 6, 1870, and was the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Short. He married Miss Barbara Metzger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Metzger, in this city, October 1, 1891. His wife, one daughter, and four sons survive. The children are Miss Mary, Forrest, Rufus and Otis Short, at home, and Harry Short of Columbus.

The funeral services will be held from the Methodist Episcopal church, this city, Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Rev. E. K. Johnson will officiate. Interment in Forest cemetery.

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE.

This morning's session of the Pickaway county teachers' institute was taken up by addresses of Professor O. L. Warren and Professor Edwin Barlow Evans. The former finished his discourse on poetry that he begun Wednesday and Mr. Evans spoke on "The Ideal Teacher." He told of the old boys in school, those who prided themselves on "lickin'" the teacher, and the students of today who are taught by "the ideal teacher."

A representative of the Laurel Book company, made a short address.

HARTMAN THEATER

Monday—Al G. Field minstrels—State fair week.

The day is a happy one for all Ohio in that it ushers in the new Field production and Ohio's great state fair two events which have come to be synchronous and synonymous in the minds of all state fair visitors. The Field show again inaugurates the new theatrical season at the Hartman, a custom it has enjoyed for many years and always the week of the big fair.

Those who expect to visit the Field entertainment during their stay in Columbus are urged to make reservations at the earliest possible opportunity, as delay may mean disappointment in obtaining seats.

Edward Conard and Joseph E. Hatfield, joint owners and producers of the Al G. Field minstrels, have achieved the greatest success of the 37 splendid years that are to the credit of the organization this year. It is heralded as the very finest and most lavish, as well as ambitious show black face minstrelsy has yet attained. Previous critics are unanimous in acclaiming its unusual merit and Hartman patrons will know what to expect in view of the splendid performances given by this popular American organization in the past.

The company again includes all the old familiar and much loved faces and some new ones as well and the production is a brilliant one in every sense of the word. Manager Conard has outdone all former efforts in staging the show and it is without a doubt the most expensive minstrelsy ever known.

The company includes Jack Richards, Billy Church, Nick Hufford, Rody Jordan, John Heely, Ed. Jones, Pete Detzel, Boni Mack, Harry Frillman, Ola Ellwood, Leslie Berry, Dolf Kastor, the Doran Brothers, Lloyd Gilbert, Carl Cameron's saxoland five and all the other familiar and popular names of the old program.

Matinee Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday.

LESSON FOR AUGUST 26

BARNABAS, THE GREAT HEARTED

LESSON TEXT—Acts 4:36-37; 11:19-20.
GOLDEN TEXT—"He was a good man and full of the Holy Ghost and of faith."—Acts 11:24.
DEVOTIONAL READING—Psalm 96: 1-10.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Barnabas and Paul Tell about Jesus.
JUNIOR TOPIC—How Barnabas Helped the Church.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—How Barnabas Showed a Generous Spirit.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Christian Character Illustrated by Barnabas.

I. Barnabas, the Man (Acts 4:36).
His original name was Joseph. When he became a Christian, he was renamed Barnabas signifying the change from the old life to the new. This was a common custom, for example, Simon to Peter and Saul to Paul. The name means "Son of Prophecy" or "exhortation and consolation." This shows not only the nature and spirit of Barnabas but that he possessed the gift of hortatory preaching. The exercise of this gift made him a son of consolation.
II. Barnabas, the Philanthropist (Acts 4:37).

So fully had the divine love permeated the very being of Barnabas that seeing the need of his fellow-believers, he sold his property and brought the money and laid it at the apostles' feet. His generosity expressed itself in deeds, not in pious words and promises. He counted nothing his own while his brethren were in need. He was in no sense obliged to do this as there was no such thing in the early church as a binding law of a community of goods. Private ownership of property was recognized, Acts 5:4.

III. Barnabas, the Christian Statesman (Acts 11:19-30).
The violent persecutions of the church scattered the disciples. As they went they preached the Gospel, and churches were established. The most conspicuous of these was at Antioch, the capital of Syria, because it became the most important center in the spread of Christianity. Everything went well as long as the Gospel message was preached to the Jews only. The idea held among the disciples at that time was that the Gentiles were excluded. But at Antioch certain of these disciples deliberately preached Christ among the Greeks. The seal of the Lord was upon this ministry and great multitudes believed and turned to the Lord. The news of this revolutionary preaching reached the ears of the church at Jerusalem and caused not a little excitement and discussion. The church decided to send a committee to Antioch to look into the matter.

1. Barnabas Sent to Antioch (vv. 22-24). Fortunately in this case they sent the proper man. Barnabas was a good man and full of the Holy Ghost and faith. Therefore, he had spiritual discernment and broad sympathy. Good men are quick to see good. When he came to Antioch he saw the grace of God and was glad. If we have grace in ourselves, we will be able to see grace in others. He exhorted and urged them forward in their work. Men like Barnabas are much needed today in our churches—men of vision and Christian courtesy and sympathy.

2. Barnabas Goes After Saul (vv. 25-26). The work so prospered that help was needed, so Barnabas went after Saul. These men had been together before. After Saul's conversion, he came to Jerusalem and tried to join himself to the disciples but they were afraid of him. Barnabas befriended him (Acts 9:26-27). He saw that Saul was really a converted man. Being a good man he could see there was good in Saul. Barnabas thus introduced Saul to his great work as apostle to the Gentiles.

3. Disciples Called Christians (v. 26). After a year of teaching by Paul and Barnabas, the name Christian was given to the disciples. The name was associated with the teaching. Paul taught the vital oneness of the believer with Christ so it was natural that the disciples should be called Christians.

4. Barnabas and Saul go to Jerusalem With Alms (vv. 26-30). Because of the oneness of Christians with Christ and with one another, the distress of the brethren at Jerusalem must be relieved by the gifts of the believers at Antioch. These gifts had a powerful effect in removing the suspicions of the brethren at Jerusalem.

George Voit Charged With Driving Auto
While Intoxicated.

George Voit, the driver of the machine, which came to this city with a bunch of men from Columbus, and it is said were liquored up, and which innocently led to the tragedy in which Motorcycle Officer Oscar Miller killed Bernard Hagan on the night of August 11, has decided to fight the case against him.

Voit was placed under arrest charged with driving a motor vehicle while intoxicated. He gave bond for his appearance when the case was called before Mayor Renick and his attorney asked for a continuance. The case has been set for next Tuesday afternoon at one o'clock.

LESS POLITICS, MORE BUSINESS.

When Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia university, on his return from Europe, said "There is as much chance of a war breaking out in Europe as there is of it breaking out in Fifth avenue," he probably came close to the truth of the European situation. For many years a profound student of foreign affairs, he is likely to have returned with a clearer comprehension of the situation abroad than have any of the politicians who knew little about Europe when they left New York and did not stay long enough to learn anything beyond what European politicians pumped into them between trains at railway stations. This hastily supplied information was chiefly that, unless the United States rushed overseas with relief, mainly financial, Europe would sink into war and chaos.

President Butler is correct in saying that too much politics is being applied to the European situation and too little of economics. He is so firmly convinced of this that he declares that six business men as administrators of European affairs could put that country on the way of economic recovery in short order. Austria is an illustration of this. Politicians know little about business. Too many of them imagine that war is imminent but the situation that alarms them requires nothing but application of business sense.

Another alarm noisily voiced by returning politicians and which Dr. Butler discounts, is "the Communist peril in German." The fact is that the mass of the German people are not educated on communistic lines. It is conceded that Germany rates about 100 per cent educationally. Where education prevails communism does not dominate. So there is little likelihood of such a revolution prevailing in Germany. There may be food riots next winter, but no communistic revolution.

The German situation is a large part of the general European situation and calls for the elimination of politics and the application of good business principles. If this could be done the whole of the European continent soon would move toward normal. Europe is not verging on war but staggering from economic intemperance. Politicians are not only incompetent to diagnose this disease but unfitted to write a prescription for it. Secretary of Treasury Mellon points out the need of wise business measures being applied to an economic situation that promises to respond with full recovery.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Army Fliers Killed.

Pensacola, Fla., Aug. 23.—Second Lieutenant Cornelius McFadden, pilot of the United States marine corps, whose home is in Philadelphia, and Captain G. R. Hill of Leamington, Mass., were killed and Lieutenant Menton A. Reche was seriously injured, when two planes in which they were flying collided at an altitude of approximately 3,200 feet and plunged to the ground. The machines were at combat maneuvers when the crash came.

Up to Germany and France.

Constance, Aug. 23.—The international Catholic congress has adopted, through a special congress attended by German and French priests, a resolution declaring that Europe can be saved only by an "enduring reconciliation between Germany and France." The resolution adds: "This is not only a political and economic problem, but also a moral and religious duty."

To Probe Accident.

Camp Meade, Md., Aug. 23.—Rigid investigation into the accident in which one army reserve officer was killed and 18 others injured during maneuvers here was begun by a military board of inquiry. The accident occurred when a barn from which about 30 officers were observing the maneuvers collapsed without warning, burying the men.

Double Tragedy.

Benton Harbor, Mich., Aug. 23.—Henry Rector, who shot John Garrett, 74, his aged father-in-law, to death after the latter in a fit of insanity had killed Rector's wife, has not yet been taken into custody. The slain man, it is believed, became demented over the prospect of having to leave the homestead where he had lived nearly all of his life. Arrangements had been made to send Garrett to the home of a son in Hinsdale, Ill.

CUMMINS HAS BEST CHANCE

Likely to Be Elected President Pro Tem. of Senate.

CURTIS AND MOSES IN RACE

Iowa Senator, It Is Believed, Will Receive the Indorsement of the Republican Caucus and His Election Will Follow—Scramble For Southern Delegates to the Next Republican Convention.

Washington, Aug. 23.—Senator Albert B. Cummins of Iowa has the best chance of being elected president pro tem of the senate, according to well informed opinion among senators here. The election will be held when reorganization of the senate takes place in December.

With the vice presidency vacant, the office of president pro tem carries a salary of $12,000 a year, which is an increase of $4,500 over that now paid to senators. In addition to this increase the occupant of the office has the use of the vice president's automobile. A new car was bought by the senate last year for Mr. Coolidge out of an appropriation of $6,000, and this car will be turned over to the president pro tem.

Senator Cummins was first elected to the office when the Sixty-sixth congress convened in May, 1919, and control passed from the Democrats to the Republicans. At the time of his election it was considered probable that he would not seek re-election, but with the additional attractions, due to accession of Vice President Coolidge to the presidency, Senator Cummins has become an active candidate. It is believed that he will receive the endorsement of the Republican caucus and that his election will follow. Other candidates on the Republican side are Senators Curtis of Kansas and George H. Moses of New Hampshire. The Democratic vote probably will be given to Senator Joseph Robinson of Arkansas.

The forecast of Senator Cummins' election does not take into account the attitude of the two Farmer-Labor senators, Johnson and Shipstead of Minnesota, nor of LaFollette of Wisconsin and Brookhart of Iowa. It is not known whether any of them will enter the Republican caucus, nor how they will vote in the senate.

The scramble now going on to control southern delegates to the next Republican convention is arousing interest in political circles here. An important question raised was: "Where are Frank Hitchcock of New York and John T. King of Connecticut, both of whom in previous campaigns have had a lot to do with the selection of these southern delegates?" Hitchcock and King appear to have been left entirely out of consideration. No one seems to know at this stage of the campaign what part they will take in the contest, nor to whom they will throw the support of the block of southern votes which they have been accustomed to control.

FLIERS REACH GOALS

Mail From Coast to Coast in Thirty Hours an Accomplished Fact.

New York, Aug. 23.—Coast to coast air mail service became an established part of the government's myriad activities when the first batch of 69 pounds of letters, which left San Francisco Tuesday morning, reached Hazelhurst field, Long Island, last evening.

At the same time the plane which left New York for the Pacific coast, arrived at San Francisco. The latter feat was accomplished in 30 hours and 9 minutes.

Pilot C. Eugene Johnson, who brought the plane here from Cleveland, made up more than an hour lost on earlier legs, and at the same time set a new air mail record from Cleveland to New York by covering the distance in 3 hours and 12 minutes. The former record was 3 hours and 50 minutes.

Legion Bands to Compete. Springfield, O., Aug. 23.—American Legion bands from all parts of Ohio will compete for prizes here at the state legion convention Sept. 8, 9, 10 and 11. Prizes will be awarded on the merits of the music and the appearance of the bands in the parade, in which 18,000 legion men are expected to take part.

COURTS GET BUSY

Drive Launched Against Host of Fake Stock Salesmen.

Washington, Aug. 23.—The department of justice launched a drive to put a host of fake stock salesmen in jail. The work will be in charge of Assistant Attorney General Crim, who has just completed a visit to federal courts throughout the nation and arranged for the roundup. Dockets will be cleaned of pending cases and new indictments will be immediately sought on a large number of complaints. In order to expedite the necessary litigation federal judges and attorneys have agreed to work every day until the task is completed.

In every federal district the dockets are littered with oil fraud cases. The offenders are enjoying liberty because other matters have prevented their cases coming to trial, it was said. On the Pacific coast and in the southwest, it was stated, the situation is particularly bad and must be remedied at once. Men under indictment for oil and stock frauds, it was said, are taking advantage of their liberty to organize and practice other frauds.

CALLS MEETING OF GOVERNORS

Government Preparing for Possible Coal Strike.

WOULD PROTECT THE PUBLIC

Heads of States In Anthracite Consuming Territory to Hold Conference Next Tuesday—Territory to Be Flooded With Substitute Fuel In Event of Strike—President Awaits Commission's Report.

Washington, Aug. 23.—Under orders from the white house, intensive governmental activity was begun to cope with the situation if the threatened anthracite coal strike materializes on Sept. 1. All federal agencies concerned in any way with the problem were directed to set in motion machinery that will insure the people against suffering from a shortage of fuel.

The principal move in this direction was the calling of a conference of governors of the states in the anthracite consuming territory to work out plans for flooding the hard coal region with substitutes in the event of a strike. The conference will be held in New York City next Tuesday. It will be presided over by Coal fuel Distributor Wadleigh, representing President Coolidge. Representatives of the railroads and a member of the interstate commerce commission also will attend.

At the same time the policy of preparedness was brought into operation, the president's determination to fix the responsibility for the failure of the negotiations between the operators and miners was plainly evidenced. The public, Mr. Coolidge insists, shall be advised in unmistakable words where the blame rests.

The United States coal commission, under Chairman John Hays Hammond, worked under White House orders to go exhaustively into this phase of the question. This is the commission's particular function and the terms of the act creating it. Congress made it a fact finding body.

It is understood that the commission's report may not be ready for two or three days. Branding of one side or the other before the nation as responsible for the threat against the public welfare, it is thought, might operate against any possible eleventh hour reconvening of the joint conference. President Coolidge is desirous, before taking any drastic step, of giving both sides ample opportunity to see the error of their way and to come together of their own accord.

No effort was made by government officials, however, to conceal their apprehension that a strike may be inevitable. There appeared to be no move in prospect to bring the owners and employees together again. The coal commission is through and all indications at the White House are that the president does not contemplate further appeal.

CUBA PAYS WAR DEBT

First Nation in the World to Reimburse the United States.

Washington, Aug. 23.—Cuba won the distinction of being the first nation in the world to pay in full her war debt to the United States. As compared with some it was but a drop in the bucket, a modest $10,000,000 to begin with. But, the treasury announced, the record is without parallel as to the manner in which payments have been met. Interest was invariably paid when due. Tuesday there remained unpaid $7,000,000. A financial agent deposited three and a half millions and came back again today with a like amount. He asked for and received a receipt in full.

Witter Abolishes Position.

Columbus, Aug. 23.—In a communication to the members of the state civil service commission Herman Witter, director of industrial relations, defies the commission and declares that, rather than comply with their order of reinstatement of Dr. W. F. Bay, medical examiner, he will abolish the position, effective at once. Dr. Bay was removed by Director Witter for cause, but the two members of the state civil service commission, after hearing the evidence, voted unanimously to order his reinstatement, declaring that the charges of Mr. Witter had not been sustained.

City Officials on Trial.

Columbus, Aug. 23.—Police Chief James Watkins of Youngstown is on trial here today before Governor Donahue to answer charges of alleged nonfeasance in office and willful neglect and failure to enforce the law. Tomorrow Mayor William G. Reese of Youngstown, suspended from office by Governor Donahue on July 27, comes up for trial, charged likewise with "gross and willful neglect of duty and failure to enforce the laws."

Hibernians Elect Officers.

Columbus, Aug. 23.—All state officers of the Ancient Order of Hibernians were re-elected at the closing session of their state convention here. These officers are: P. J. Carney, Youngstown, president; J. E. Donovan, Dayton, vice president; Joseph G. Casey, Urbana, secretary; James Mulligan, Columbus, treasurer, and J. P. Mooney, Cleveland, chairman of Irish history.

Strikebreakers Banned.

Lima, O., Aug. 23.—In response to a protest by the striking carmen of this city against the importation of professional strikebreakers, City Manager C. A. Bingham informed the union leaders that he would demand the removal of strikebreakers if he obtained any proof of their presence. Irregular streetcar service is reported.

Drank Toilet Water.

Cincinnati, Aug. 23.—Police are seeking relatives of Richard Harry Swivel, 60, telegraph operator and writer, following his death, which apparently was caused by drinking toilet water, several empty bottles that had contained such fluid being found in his room.

Chinese Seized in Raid.

Cleveland, Aug. 23.—Four Chinese are under arrest here on charges of violating the Harrison narcotic act as a result of a raid staged by the federal narcotic squad on an alleged opium den on Ontario street. The raiders seized $20,000 worth of opium and similar drugs.

Haines Not Seriously Ill.

Hillsboro, O., Aug. 23.—Roy A. Haines, national prohibition director, who is resting up at his home here, apparently is in good health except for a throat affection, which is not deemed serious. Reports of his illness have been exaggerated.

RUPTURE HELD INEVITABLE

Franco-British Ereak Anticipated in Certain Quarters.

DIPLOMATS EXPRESS CONCERN

Next Step to Be Taken by Great Britain the Cause of Considerable Apprehension—Baldwin Cabinet May Temporarily, However, to Soothe the Friends of France—Comment on Premier Poincare's Latest Note.

Pars, Aug. 23.—Premier Poincare's note to London, published here, marks another milestone, perhaps the last one, on the road that leads to an inevitable Franco-British break.

During the recent days the more optimistic have expected that Premier Poincare would offer a solution for all problems, including reparations, the Ruhr and the interallied debts. Never has such eager expectation been so little justified as the note. While it inflexibly reaffirms all the French demands, it wholly rejects all the English proposals without suggesting the least kind of a new scheme.

Britain is accused of selfishness, although Premier Baldwin offered to cancel most of France's debts. France does not wish to talk now of a settlement of the interallied debts, insisting that this question be postponed until after Germany has fully settled for reparations, which may take scores of years.

Poincare's suggestion that an interallied loan be floated to guarantee reparations is believed here to be entirely impracticable, because such a loan could only be underwritten by America, thus making fresh American gold pay the entire war bill.

As for the immediate consequences of Poincare's attitude concerning the Anglo-French conflict, diplomatic circles believe that at any other time England would answer with an emphatic and sudden declaration of a rupture, but the Baldwin cabinet, though convinced that a rupture is inevitable, will temporize to soothe the die hards, who are friendly to France.

Considerable apprehension is felt in European diplomatic circles concerning the next step by Britain. Should Premier Baldwin decide to address a separate note to Germany, Premier Poincare would immediately call an extra session in order to obtain a parliamentary vote of confidence for the application of his policy in the Ruhr, involving, according to present plans, a quick advance and the occupation of Frankfurt.

REPLY UNACCEPTABLE

Only Two Courses Left Open to the British Prime Minister.

London, Aug. 23.—The British foreign office regards Premier Poincare's reply as unacceptable. Premier Baldwin is expected to summon an extraordinary session of the cabinet as soon as possible to consider France's latest note.

Financial circles are deeply angered by Poincare's declaration that if Britain does not agree to a priority in reparations for the war areas, France will be forced to stand rigidly by her full claims under the figures fixed at Versailles.

Only two courses are open to Premier Baldwin. With his proposals rejected, he must either summon parliament and obtain authority for carrying out his pledge to effect a separate settlement with Germany, or climb down and seek escape through the loophole provided by Poincare in his proposal for allied discussion of all questions at issue.

The only encouraging feature of the French reply is that France has finally whittled down the minimum demands of the allies from Germany from 6,600,000,000 pounds sterling to 2,500,000,000 pounds. France to be paid 1,300,000,000 pounds and Belgium to be paid 250,000,000 pounds as soon as the money can be raised on preferred "A" and "B" bonds issued by Germany. Under this arrangement Britain would be allowed 210,000,000 pounds.

Pacifism the Big Problem.

Berlin, Aug. 23.—"The most vital question today is pacifism," declared Duke Max, brother of the last king of Saxony, in an address at Essen. The duke, who is professor of theology at the University of Freiburg, Switzerland, expressed regret that the idea of pacifism is progressing more slowly in Germany than in France, where there are 100,000 organized pacifists as against Germany's 30,000.

NEW PROBLEM DEVELOPS

Live of Coal Commission and Fuel Distributor Expire Next Month.

Washington, Aug. 23.—Serious embarrassment is faced by President Coolidge in event of an anthracite strike in the fact that the lives of both the United States coal commission and the federal fuel distributor expire on Sept. 22. Only by calling an extra session of congress could the president have these agencies continued with any authority of law. The fuel distributor's staff will be so enlarged if a strike develops that it could not be absorbed by another department on account of a lack of appropriation.

NAVY FLIERS WILL AID ASTRONOMERS

Will Take Photos at High Altitudes of Sun's Eclipse.

Washington, Aug. 23.—In the hope of obtaining valuable astronomical data desired by the naval observatory here, navy fliers, co-operating with the experts of the observatory, will make photographs at high altitudes of the eclipse of the sun visible in southern California Sept. 10.

The planes will fly from the naval air station at San Diego. The planes will take the air with instruments and cameras when just half the first phases of the eclipse are visible and will remain aloft during the entire period of the eclipse.

The planes will have a three-fold object. If the day is cloudy the sun will not be visible to observers on the ground and the aviators by flying over the clouds can obtain observations and photographs of great scientific value, which under these circumstances would constitute the only observations of the eclipse. Another object is to take pictures of the shadow cast on the earth by the eclipse, and if possible to get photographs of both the northern and southern edges of it. With these photographs the exact center of the shadow can be determined and will constitute a means of checking the calculations of the scientist observing on the ground with telescopes.

Coolidge as Arbitrator.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

PLAN CENTENNIAL.

The local Presbyterian church has passed its hundredth birthday and is planning to hold its centennial celebration on Sunday, September sixteenth. A committee has been appointed to look after the details connected with the program for the day and its plans are under way. While it is not ready to announce the speakers for the occasion, invitations have been sent to former pastors of the church, sons of early pastors and others who are to have special part in the program. The committee in charge held its second meeting Wednesday night and has appointed special committees on invitation, reception, program and history.

Members of the church have been asked to write to their friends who were formerly members of the church asking them to make this an occasion for homecoming.

Start a Scrap Book.

A good joke never grows old. Like wine, time serves to improve it; and so it is with all things worth while. The scrap book occupied a prominent place on the reading table in years gone by and it is going to come back again, for it stands in a class by itself. No other volume ever gripped and held its readers as did this keepsake of almost-forgotten days, and no book of the present, no matter what its theme or who its author may be, will delight and really thrill one's own family and friends as will a scrap book made up of the happenings of today.

★ Bible Thought for Today

THE REAL TEST.—Is it not to deal thy bread to the hungry, and that thou bring the poor that are cast out to thy house? when thou seest the naked, that thou cover him; and that thou hide not thyself from thine own flesh?—Isaiah 58:7.

SMALL TOWN HUMOR AND PHILOSOPHY

By BUCK CAMPBELL

Never help to stuff a club for the other fellow to pound you over the head.

Never trust a man with a bad record, even good men sometimes go wrong.

Most of the ills of humanity are imaginary and a lot more are only an excuse for laziness.

The devil has a mortgage on a lot of fellows whose carcass would not pay the expense of a foreclosure.

The lazy loafer is always a firm believer that luck plays an important part in the success of his energetic neighbor.

From the number of accidents in this country it looks like it would be better to put shock absorbers on the pedestrians instead of the machines.

To Reduce Flesh.

To reduce superfluous fat you must work. Your path will wind through many lanes of self-sacrifice before your mirror will give back the coveted willowy image. Your attainment of the ideal will mean hot work, too, for vigorous exercise is necessary. A daily walk of five miles should not be excessive if you are in good condition. Give a fair trial to the tonic baths so helpful for many girls who complain of "tired feelings."

Discouraged Frenchmen.

A Frenchman complained that he had difficulty in learning English. He said that after he had learned to pronounce "typhoid fever" a doctor pronounced it fatal.

APPAREL FOR WOMEN

HOOSIER
—the Kitchen Cabinet that saves miles of steps

—the Only Kitchen Convenience that Adjusts Your Work-Table to Suit Your Height

Gymnasium instructors have a little trick of asking new members of their classes to hold their hands above their heads and open and close their fingers. After a minute or two the student usually suffers an acute pain in the muscles. Yet opening and closing the fingers is a simple, natural operation. It's the unnatural position in which the arms are held which wears one out.

Unless your work-table is adjusted to the proper height to suit your individual build, you stand in an unnatural position which puts a muscle strain on arms and back for such movements as rolling dough and beating eggs.

That is why so many women wear themselves out at their kitchen work. It is also why women who own the new Hoosier are freed from such muscle-strains. For the new Hoosier gives you a work-table adjusted to your comfort.

An initial payment as low as $1.00 will put a HOOSIER in your home.

HIS OPPORTUNITY

By JANE GORDON

"YOU must stay over to attend our fete, Cynthia," Mrs. Talbot said. "Oh! do," Janet coaxed, "and be our mystic lady in the fortune-telling booth."

Mrs. Talbot immediately saw this advantage and urged her invitation. Cynthia hesitated. "I ought to be at home to greet father, after his trip abroad," she said; "the house is such an empty place without a welcoming presence."

So it was arranged that the honored guest should remain for the anticipated fete and enact the part of mystic seer in the fortune-telling booth.

"Now," Mrs. Talbot went on, "let us check off those invited, Janet."

The girl glanced up at her mother. "Wallace Bruce must come, of course," she said.

Mrs. Talbot flushed uncomfortably. "My dear," she expostulated, "to include Wallace in our invitation now would be not only to embarrass our guests, but to cause himself painful perplexity. A man who has been obliged to suffer the family disgrace that Wallace has recently known would prefer to be left in seclusion."

"You have heard, Cynthia," Mrs. Talbot referred to her guest, "of the unfortunate bank difficulty in your city? This Wallace Bruce of whom Janet speaks is a son of the defaulting cashier."

"Wallace has been wonderful," Janet hotly defended. "And the true question of defaulting was not decided. Mr. Bruce went away to die of shock and exposure—the papers, as mother says, were full of the story—and Wallace resigned his own position in the same bank to go with his father and care for him to the last. Now that he comes back, not back home, for his home has been sold, to settle up accounts, but now that Wallace, our old friend, is here, lonely and disappointed among us, we, who used to—" Janet gulped—"to run after him, refuse him an invitation to our house. It's unfair."

Cynthia King spoke quietly. "It does seem unkind," she said, and an opinion of the Store King's daughter was not to be ignored.

Wallace Bruce, in his hurt and loneliness, received an invitation to the society fete. And because he wished to show his gratitude for recognition, Wallace Bruce attended.

"This way to the tent of the Mystic Seer," cried Janet at the path in the garden where lanterns glowed. "And you really must visit Madame Cynthia, Wallace," she merrily greeted. "Madame Cynthia will be quite unknown to you. She is a mysterious stranger among us."

Wallace agreeably handed to the fair "barker" his half-dollar and passed into the oriental booth. Madame Cynthia was appropriately veiled, from bright dark eyes to the tip of her dimpled chin. She crossed her golden slippers and very thoughtfully regarded her subject. That dark-eyed gaze was penetrating. Wallace Bruce thought the low, modulated voice pleasant, too, to hear.

"Your hand, if you please?" requested the mystic. Her touch was comforting. Wallace smiled; he had almost forgotten how; the effort was wistful. "I await," he said, "your verdict without fear. My clouds, I am beginning to think, have no silver lining. Therefore, I am resigned."

The little mystic bent toward him. "Resigned?" she questioned—"but that is not well. Silver linings must be pulled about with courage. And here I see—ah, it is opportunity, a golden opportunity, to be grasped. What you may make of it will depend largely upon yourself. I, the mystic seer, have faith in you. Faith, because of your faithful past. One day you may see me again—in your palm our paths cross—that little line. Then you shall prove to me."

The jeweled fingers were twisting a scrap of paper. "Take, read thoughtfully, friend," the mystic ordered, "and follow opportunity."

Wallace Bruce was out in the night before he realized that another applicant had forced his place. Under a swinging lantern he whimsically read the scrap of paper. Then amazed, he stood for a moment in the path.

"On Thursday next, at three o'clock, apply at the private office of John King of the King Stores," was his message. "You will be expected."

Whirling about he endeavored again to enter the fortune teller's tent. He found that Madame Cynthia had resigned her post to Janet Talbot, who could not be persuaded to divulge the young mystic's name.

"It wouldn't be honorable, Wallace," Janet said. "I promised Cynthia to keep silent."

The president of the King chain of stores greeted him with courtesy on the following Thursday. And Wallace felt that he was still living under a heavy spell when that gentleman invited him to dinner that same evening. In the wide hall Cynthia King met them. Her dark eyes questioned those of Wallace, challenged them. Then the low, pleasing voice remarked: "I see that you have grasped your opportunity."

There was no wistfulness now in the man's smile. "I am eager to prove to you," he said—and he did.

And it may also be told that it was Cynthia, the kindly mystic, who brought Wallace Bruce the silver lining of his cloud, a lining so bright that it might be called the gold of his desire.

Committee Had Journeyed to Hollywood, California, to Greet Him—Carried Traveling Beauseant—James H. Eymon Was Chairman of Committee.

The last public address of President Harding was made at Hollywood, California, to Marion commandery, Knights-Templar of which he was a member. A committee of the commandery was at Hollywood at the time for the purpose of delivering the traveling beauseant to their fraters in that city, and the president being unable to attend the exercises, his address was read by his secretary, George B. Christian, about two hours before his death.

Attorney James H. Eymon, formerly of Williamsport, was a member of the committee which journeyed to Hollywood and he did not get back to Marion until the morning of the funeral of the president.

Mr. Eymon was chairman of the committee appointed by Marion commandery to prepare a memorial on the death of their illustrious brother and Sir Knight.

The resolutions which were adopted were as follows:

"The members of Marion commandery, No. 36, Knights-Templars, mourn because our beloved Sir Knight Warren Gamaliel Harding has been called to partake of the bitter cup of death, and we are again admonished that sooner or later our names will be stricken from the roll of the living and we shall one by one be gathered to his side by those who in their turn shall follow us.

"He was taken just as honors thickly clustered and, as to us it seems, at a time when the accomplishment of the enterprise he had so earnestly undertaken had begun to be realized; but, according to the 'Great Plan,' his work had been completed. It was the time for him to lay aside the sword and buckler of this life and join the throng in the place prepared by Him for the followers of the Prince of Peace, and it is for the members of this order which he founded upon the teachings of the Great Emmanuel to say, 'His will be done.'

"To our commandery he delivered the last address of his private life and only two hours prior to his answering the summons of the Supreme Grand Commander that the pilgrimage of this life, in which he had so splendidly shown his patience and perseverance, had been completed, that the time of his warfare, in all of which he had so beautifully displayed his courage and constancy, had ended, and that his simple faith and humility had won him a place in the conclaves on high, the last message of his public service was read to this, his own commandery, which had made the journey to our western shore to meet him for the purpose of commemorating the teachings and service of the Ancient Templars.

"Warren Gamaliel Harding was honored by all nations; revered by his countrymen; and beloved by his neighbors and 'home folks.' He was our friend. While he trod the ordinary walks of life—when he rose to higher stations—and when he had been exalted to the highest position in the nation and of the world—yet, he was ever and always our friend. In truth his whole life seemed to radiate this one desire:

"I want the men I meet, each day, wherever I may be,

To know that joy and happiness just radiate from me.

I want to put so much into the hand clasp I extend.

That every man I meet will say: 'I know he'll be my friend.'

"I want to greet my fellowmen with such a hearty smile,

That it will banish all their care and make life seem worth while.

I want to understand their need, and such assistance lend,

That every man I know will feel: 'I'm glad he is my friend.'

"I ask not honor, not reward, for anything I do;

I just would open wide my heart and let the love shine thru.

Tho I but meet a brother once, one touch, one smile I'd send,

And cause that man to sing for aye: 'I'm glad he was my friend.'

"To his brave, faithful and loving life companion we can only offer in kindness our feeble assistance, and deeply sympathize with her in her bereavement, hoping all of us may profit by the statement he made to us at one of our meetings when speaking of prayer, 'I am not ashamed to say to you that I often turn to that source for help in bearing the burden which has come to my shoulders.'

"Farewell, Sir Knight! We will cherish your memory in our hearts."

Origin of "Bungalow."

"Bungalow" comes from "bonglaw," meaning Bengalese, or built in the style of the Bengalis, an East Indian tribe.

AMUSEMENTS

"The Fog" shown for the first time at the Met theater yesterday, is one of the most absorbing and best acted photoplays is has ever been our good fortune to see. And it was enthusiastically received. Before we saw it, we deemed it hardly possible that so many elements of entertainment value could be crowded into one photoplay. But in this picture are adventure, pathos, villainy, heroism, love, infatuation—the whole range of human action.

It is the story of how a sensitive boy finally triumphed—thru love—over the tyranny and meanness of his environment. It is a story packed with thrills and rapid action and its love theme is very unusual.

The acting was really superb. The cast includes Mildred Harris, Cullen Landis, Louise Fazenda, Ethel Wales, Louise Dresser, Marjorie Prevost, Ann May, Ralph Lewis, David Butler, Frank Currier and Edward Phillips. Each role is interpreted with remarkable sincerity and convincingness.

Praise should also be accorded the director, Paul Powell, for his masterful handling of William Dudley Pelley's fascinating story.

The photoplay was adapted by H. H. Van Loan and was produced for Metro under the personal supervision of Max Graf. The scenario was prepared by Winifred Dunn. The photography is the work of John R. Arnold.

DEATH CAME SUDDENLY

Body of Cary Short Found Southwest of City in His Automobile.

Machine Hit Tree—Had an Attack of Heart Trouble or Fallen Asleep—Was Prominent Farmer and Stockman—Shipped Thousands of Horses.

Cary Short was found dead at the steering wheel of his touring car at five o'clock this morning on the West-fall road four miles southwest of this city by a young farmer, Ernest Gerhardt, within one hundred yards of the latter's home on the C. E. Groce farm.

Mr. Gerhardt arose early to gather his crop of sweetcorn, which he is delivering at the Sears-Nichols cannery. From his home he saw a car at the side of the road which had been wrecked, as it had hit a sycamore tree. When he arrived at the scene he found to his surprise the driver of the car still sitting behind the wheel. The body of the man was leaning a little to one side and his hands were still gripping the wheel. He at once recognized the man as Cary Short. The body was still warm and he had evidently been dead but a short time.

Acting Coroner E. C. Friece was notified and accompanied by Undertaker Fred C. Clark went to the scene of the tragedy and viewed the body. Coroner Friece is of the opinion that Mr. Short had died of heart trouble and that the car ran along and was stopped when it came in contact with the tree at the roadside.

Undertaker Clark, who took the body in charge and removed it to the dead man's home, only a few miles south of where it was found, is of the opinion that Mr. Short died of heart trouble before the car hit the tree. Forrest Short, a son of the deceased, said that the family is of the opinion that his father had gone to sleep on his way home from Columbus and that the shock of colliding with the tree was the cause of his death. It is known that Mr. Short had not been very well of late and that he was afflicted with a weak heart. The night was cold and damp and it is not an unusual thing for a driver of a car to drop off into a nap on a long drive. The machine was badly wrecked. One side of the car where it hit the fence was torn and the wheels on this side were demolished and the front axle bent. Nothing of value was disturbed on Mr. Short's person. He usually wore diamonds, a stud and a solitaire ring. There were no bruises on his body, with the exception of a slight abrasion of the skin on his chest which was caused by the sudden impact and rebound when the machine came in contact with the tree.

Shrewd in his dealings in real estate and horses he amassed a snug fortune and was the owner of some good farm land in Pickaway, Ross and Franklin counties. He came here from Deerfield township, Ross county nearly twenty-four years and rented the farm of the late Mrs. Mary Bennett Fleming, wife of William A. Fleming, of Watt street. His business in horse trading and buying was a success from its inception and he specialized in draft horses and sold thousands to dealers all over the country. He was associated the past few years with his son, Forrest Short. The firm dealt exclusively with the government agents during the World war and nearly five thousand horses were sold to the government for shipment abroad. His fame as a horse man became known nationally and dealers came here from San Francisco California and New York City, to buy heavy draft stock. His largest customers were The Standard Oil company, of Ohio, and the Ritter Lumber company, of West Virginia.

Affable and jolly, he made friends everywhere and it was nothing to see horse traders coming in large numbers from miles distant to his home farm to buy, sell or trade with him.

For the past three years Mr. Short had been out of the horse business and had been interested in real estate with Harvey S. Heffner, of this city, with an office at 77 East Chapel street, Columbus, and negotiated a number of big deals in real estate.

Mr. Short stopped at the Clifton Brothers garage on West Main street at one o'clock this morning and had a tire on his car repaired. He had just came down from Columbus and remarked that he was nearly chilled thru.

Cary Short was born in Deerfield township, Ross county, June 6, 1870, and was the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Short. He married Miss Barbara Metzger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Metzger, in this city, October 1, 1891. His wife, one daughter, and four sons survive. The children are Miss Mary, Forrest, Rufus and Otis Short, at home, and Harry Short of Columbus.

The funeral services will be held from the Methodist Episcopal church, this city, Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Rev. E. K. Johnson will officiate. Interment in Forest cemetery.

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE.

This morning's session of the Pickaway county teachers' institute was taken up by addresses of Professor O. L. Warren and Professor Edwin Barlow Evans. The former finished his discourse on poetry that he begun Wednesday and Mr. Evans spoke on "The Ideal Teacher." He told of the old boys in school, those who prided themselves on "lickin," the teacher, and the students of today who are taught by "the ideal teacher."

A representative of the Laurel Book company, made a short address.

HARTMAN THEATER

Monday—Al G. Field minstrels—State fair week.

The day is a happy one for all Ohio in that it ushers in the new Field production and Ohio's great state fair two events which have come to be synchronous and synonymous in the minds of all state fair visitors. The Field show again inaugurates the new theatrical season at the Hartman, a custom it has enjoyed for many years and always the week of the big fair.

Those who expect to visit the Field entertainment during their stay in Columbus are urged to make reservations at the earliest possible opportunity, as delay may mean disappointment in obtaining seats.

Edward Conard and Joseph E. Hatfield, joint owners and producers of the Al G. Field minstrels, have achieved the greatest success of the 37 splendid years that are to the credit of the organization this year. It is heralded as the very finest and most lavish, as well as ambitious show black face minstrelsy has yet attained. Previous critics are unanimous in acclaiming its unusual merit and Hartman patrons will know what to expect in view of the splendid performances given by this popular American organization in the past.

The company again includes all the old familiar and much loved faces and some new ones as well and the production is a brilliant one in every sense of the word. Manager Conard has outdone all former efforts in staging the show and it is without a doubt the most expensive minstrelsy ever known.

The company includes Jack Richards, Billy Church, Nick Hufford, Roddy Jordan, John Heely, Ed. Jones, Pete Detzel, Boni Mack, Harry Frillman, Ola Ellwood, Leslie Berry, Dolf Kastor, the Doran Brothers, Lloyd Gilbert, Carl Cameron's saxoland five and all the other familiar and popular names of the old program.

Matinee Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday.

BARNABAS, THE GREAT HEARTED

LESSON TEXT—Acts 4:36-37; 11:19-30.

GOLDEN TEXT—"He was a good man and full of the Holy Ghost and of faith."—Acts 11:24.

DEVOTIONAL READING—Psalm 96:
 1-10.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Barnabas and Paul Tell about Jesus.

JUNIOR TOPIC—How Barnabas Helped the Church.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOP-IC—How Barnabas Showed a Generous Spirit.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC
 —Christian Character Illustrated by Barnabas.

I. Barnabas, the Man (Acts 4:36).

His original name was Joseph.
 When he became a Christian, he was renamed Barnabas signifying the change from the old life to the new.
 This was a common custom, for example, Simon to Peter and Saul to Paul. The name means "Son of Prophecy" or "exhortation and consolation." This shows not only the nature and spirit of Barnabas but that he possessed the gift ofhorta-tory preaching. The exercise of this gift made him a son of consolation.

II. Barnabas, the Philanthropist (Acts 4:37).

So fully had the divine love permeated the very being of Barnabas that seeing the need of his fellow-believers, he sold his property and brought the money and laid it at the apostles' feet. His generosity expressed itself in deeds, not in pious words and promises. He counted nothing his own while his brethren were in need. He was in no sense obliged to do this as there was no such thing in the early church as a binding law of a community of goods.
 Private ownership of property was recognized, Acts 5:4.

III. Barnabas, the Christian Statesman (Acts 11:19-30).

The violent persecutions of the church scattered the disciples. As they went they preached the Gospel, and churches were established. The most conspicuous of these was at Antioch, the capital of Syria, because it became the most important center in the spread of Christianity. Everything went well as long as the Gospel message was preached to the Jews only. The idea held among the disciples at that time was that the Gentiles were excluded. But at Antioch certain of these disciples deliberately preached Christ among the Greeks.
 The seal of the Lord was upon this ministry and great multitudes believed and turned to the Lord. The news of this revolutionary preaching reached the ears of the church at Jerusalem and caused not a little excitement and discussion. The church decided to send a committee to Antioch to look into the matter.

1. Barnabas Sent to Antioch (vv.
 22-24). Fortunately in this case they sent the proper man. Barnabas was a good man and full of the Holy Ghost and faith. Therefore, he had spiritual discernment and broad sympathy. Good men are quick to see good. When he came to Antioch he saw the grace of God and was glad.
 If we have grace in ourselves, we will be able to see grace in others. He exhorted and urged them forward in their work. Men like Barnabas are much needed today in our churches—men of vision and Christian courtesy and sympathy.

2. Barnabas Goes After Saul (vv.
 25-26). The work so prospered that help was needed, so Barnabas went after Saul. These men had been together before. After Saul's conversion, he came to Jerusalem and tried to join himself to the disciples but they were afraid of him. Barnabas befriended him (Acts 9:26-27). He saw that Saul was really a converted man. Being a good man he could see there was good in Saul. Barnabas thus introduced Saul to his great work as apostle to the Gentiles.

3. Disciples Called Christians (v.
 26). After a year of teaching by Paul and Barnabas, the name Christian was given to the disciples. The name was associated with the teaching.
 Paul taught the vital oneness of the believer with Christ so it was natural that the disciples should be called Christian.

4. Barnabas and Saul go to Jerusalem With Alms (vv. 26-30). Because of the oneness of Christians with Christ and with one another, the distress of the brethren at Jerusalem must be relieved by the gifts of the believers at Antioch. These gifts had a powerful effect in removing the suspicions of the brethren at Jerusalem.

WILL FIGHT CASE

George Voit Charged With Driving Auto
While Intoxicated.

George Voit, the driver of the machine, which came to this city with a bunch of men from Columbus, and it is said were liquored up, and which innocently led to the tragedy in which Motorcycle Officer Oscar Miller killed Bernard Hagan on the night of August 11, has decided to fight the case against him.

Voit was placed under arrest charged with driving a motor vehicle while intoxicated. He gave bond for his appearance when the case was called before Mayor Renick and his attorney asked for a continuance. The case has been set for next Tuesday afternoon at one o'clock.

LESS POLITICS, MORE BUSINESS.

When Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia university, on his return from Europe, said "There is as much chance of a war breaking out in Europe as there is of it breaking out in Fifth avenue," he probably came close to the truth of the European situation. For many years a profound student of foreign affairs, he is likely to have returned with a clearer comprehension of the situation abroad than have any of the politicians who knew little about Europe when they left New York and did not stay long enough to learn anything beyond what European politicians pumped into them between trains at railway stations. This hastily supplied information was chiefly that, unless the United States rushed overseas with relief, mainly financial, Europe would sink into war and chaos.

President Butler is correct in saying that too much politics is being applied to the European situation and too little of economics. He is so firmly convinced of this that he declares that six business men as administrators of European affairs could put that country on the way of economic recovery in short order. Austria is an illustration of this. Politicians know little about business. Too many of them imagine that war is imminent but the situation that alarms them requires nothing but application of business sense.

Another alarm noisily voiced by returning politicians and which Dr. Butler discounts, is "the Communistic peril in Germany." The fact is that the mass of the German people are not educated on communistic lines. It is conceded that Germany rates about 100 per cent educationally. Where education prevails communism does not dominate. So there is little likelihood of such a revolution prevailing in Germany. There may be food riots next winter, but no communistic revolution.

The German situation is a large part of the general European situation and calls for the elimination of politics and the application of good business principles. If this could be done the whole of the European continent soon would move toward normal. Europe is not verging on war but staggering from economic intemperance. Politicians are not only incompetent to diagnose this disease but unfitted to write a prescription for it. Secretary of Treasury Mellon points out the need of wise business measures being applied to an economic situation that promises to respond with full recovery.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Keep in mind the sale of the 50 acre tract of land belonging to the estate of Charles M. Rife, adjoining the north corporation line of Circleville, Monday, August 27, at 2 p. m. at the court house.

Pensacola, Fla., Aug. 23.—Second Lieutenant Cornelius McFadden, pilot of the United States marine corps, whose home is in Philadelphia, and Captain G. R. The machines were at combat maneuvers when the crash came.

Up to Germany and France.

Constance, Aug. 23.—The international Catholic congress has adopted, through a special congress attended by German and French priests, a resolution declaring that Europe can be saved only by an "enduring reconciliation between Germany and France." The resolution adds: "This is not only a political and economic problem, but also a moral and religious duty."

To Probe Accident.

Camp Meade, Md., Aug. 23.—Rigid investigation into the accident in which one army reserve officer was killed and 18 others injured during maneuvers here was begun by a military board of inquiry. The accident occurred when a barn from which about 30 officers were observing the maneuvers collapsed without warning, burying the men.

Double Tragedy.

Benton Harbor, Mich., Aug. 23.—Henry Rector, who shot John Garrett, 74, his aged father-in-law, to death after the latter in a fit of insanity had killed Rector's wife, has not yet been taken into custody. The slain man, it is believed, became demented over the prospect of having to leave the homestead where he had lived nearly all of his life. Arrangements had been made to send Garrett to the home of a son in Hinsdale, Ill.
